TI releases Global Corruption Report: Sport; TIB calls for taking preventive measures to maintain cricket’s clean image

At the backdrop of incidences of match-fixing, political and commercial influences in arranging major events, the lack of good governance in administration and other risks of corruption in international sports, Transparency International Bangladesh (TIB) today urged the Government to take necessary preventive measures to maintain clean image of cricket in Bangladesh. Releasing the ‘Global Corruption Report: Sport’ of Berlin-based Transparency International (TI), through a press conference in its Dhanmondi office this morning, TIB’s Executive Director Dr. Iftekharuzzaman underscored the need for enacting necessary laws for ensuring transparency in the Bangladesh’s cricket’s governance. He also hoped that all stakeholders involved with cricket matches and tournaments should comply with International Cricket Council’s (ICC) anti corruption rules to avoid incidences of tainted images in the future. TIB’s Deputy Executive Director Professor Dr. Sumaiya Khair, Director-Research and Policy Mohammad Rafiqul Hassan and Deputy Programme Manager-Research and Policy Mohammad Nure Alam were also present among others during the press conference. Dr. Zaman, Mr. Alam and Rumana Sharmin are the co-authors of ‘Cricket in Bangladesh: Challenges of governance and match-fixing’ incorporated in TI’s GCR-Sport.

The Bangladesh report highlighted illegal activities of betting operators; punishment of a young cricketer and involvement of an umpire in match-fixing; a club’s role in match-fixing in Bangladesh Premier League and various governance challenges Bangladesh Cricket Board’s (BCB). Observing that there is no specific law in Bangladesh to deal with sports-related corruption, Dr. Zaman urged for formulating a long-term anti-corruption strategy to strengthen BCB’s Anti-Corruption Unit (ACU).

TIB also urged to set up an independent and specialized Office of Ombudsman for Cricket.

It may be mentioned here that TIB has been advocating with BCB to address governance challenges in Bangladesh’s cricket since 2014. With BCB’s endorsement, Bangladesh’s National Cricket Team joined a TIB-led ‘Say NO to Corruption’ campaign on the eve of the International Anti-corruption Day 2014. In January same year, TIB lodged strong protest against International Cricket Council’s (ICC) attempt to establish two-tier system of test matches and money driven control mechanism.

The GCR Sport put forward some specific recommendations to initiate fundamental reforms to overcome governance challenges in Bangladesh cricket. These included, among others: the recruitment of skilled human resources, enhancing technical capacity, independence, professionalism and effectiveness of the ACU, creating legal provisions to effectively prevent match-fixing, spot-fixing and any other forms of cheating; and the oversight by the Parliamentary Standing Committee for ensuring good governance of the cricket management and administration of BCB.

ACU should function as unit of integrity and anti-corruption, consistent with the Government’s National Integrity Strategy (NIS), TIB observed, adding that all stakeholders involved in cricket matches and tournaments, especially the franchises, managers, coaches, captains, players and media houses, whether national or international, should formally sign an agreement to uphold the ICC’s Anti-Corruption Code. Individuals involved with BCB and their immediate family members, agents and gate-keepers should be subjected to the proactive disclosure of their income and wealth, TIB said. It also urged for taking specific programmes on information, education and communication to change the behavior of young cricketers.

The GCR Sport revealed corruption not only in football but also in cricket, cycling, badminton, ice hockey, handball, athletics and other sports. The GCR includes 60 articles from a broad range of contributors, including the International Olympic Committee, players’ organisations, and athletes past and present supporters groups and academics.
Ways to improve land sector governance in Bangladesh

A day-long consultation on ‘Governance challenges and the way forward in land sector’ was held in TIB’s Dhaka Office on 29 February 2016. Anti-corruption fighters and civil society activists attending the consultation urged for more concentrated efforts to reduce governance challenges in land-related services in the country.

Despite being so important in daily lives and economic activities, land sector in Bangladesh has been replete with numerous anomalies and corruption. According to TIB’s National Household Survey on Corruption 2012, 59% households experienced corruption while receiving services and nationally estimated total amount of bribe given by Bangladeshi households was found to be Tk. 22610 million.

Over the decades, the government has taken numerous policy measures to reform land administration and management to make land services accessible and people oriented. In this context, the government has indentified land as one of its priority areas in the 7th Five Year Plan. Given the paramount importance of land sector, TIB decided to work on land sector and pursue advocacy campaign both at local and national level to bring necessary policy changes to fight against corruption and improve governance in land sector. Some 48 participants representing Presidents, Conveners of Land Committees and land related CSO partners from (Bagerhat, Barisal, Chandpur, Gazipur, Khagrachori, Chapainababgonj etc) attended the consultation.

During consultation it emerged that service recipients encounter inconvenience, corruption or harassment while seeking services. Major constrains included, among others, the lack of co-ordination among land authority and management, deficit of skill and experience of Assistant Commissioners (Land), additional duties of AC (Land) other than land management, lack of regular inspection in local land offices, absence of field level monitoring of reports, inadequate budget and skilled human resource, dearth of training, deficit of logistics and infrastructure and the manual record keeping system.

During question-answer session, participants urged for undertaking extensive research on exploitations of indigenous people’s land. Topics such as land development tax, mutation, registration, record management, distribution and management of Khas land also came up in the discussion. Women are more at risk of corruption in this sector as they do not have much access to information regarding this, they observed.

After group works, participants presented their insights and suggested concrete steps to ease the sufferings of the public. Their suggestions included the digitalization of land services, one-stop local level center, special awareness campaigns in local level, organizing public hearing and setting up of complain boxes, ensuring access to information according to Right to Information Act and involving local people in the taxation process.

TIB’s Executive Director Dr. Iftekharuzzaman, Deputy Executive Director Professor Dr. Sumaiya Khair and four other Directors were present in the consultation.

The consolidated findings of this consultation, along with TIB’s land sector study findings will be turned into a policy brief later to undertake sustained advocacy with the government to bring positive reforms and changes in land sector governance.
