TIB calls on Government to be more stringent against corruption

Bangladesh has scored 28 on a scale of 0-100 according to the Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) 2017 released by Transparency International (TI) on February 21 2018. Bangladesh's score in 2017 is two point higher than in 2016. In a list of 180 countries, Bangladesh is ranked 17th from below, which is two steps higher than in 2016. Bangladesh remains well below the global average of 43 which indicates moderate success in controlling corruption. Among the eight South Asian countries, Bangladesh continue to be the second worst performer after Afghanistan.

Releasing the CPI 2017 findings in its head office in Dhaka at morning on 22 February 2018, Dr. Iftekharuzzaman, Executive Director of Transparency International Bangladesh urged the government to take stern measures against the corrupt, without fear or favour. “The prospect of doing better in CPI will depend on their application and enforcement. Corruption must be a punishable offence not only on paper but in practice without fear or favour”, Dr. Zaman said. Advocate Sultana Kamal, Chair, Board of Trustees of TIB; TIB Trustee Board Members M Hafizuddin Khan; and Professor Dr. Sumaiya Khair, TIB Adviser- Executive Management were present during the press conference.

Pointing to alarming outcome from further analysis of the index which indicates that countries with the lowest protections for press and non-governmental organisations (NGOs) also tend to have the worst rates of corruption, Dr. Zaman said it also applies to Bangladesh. He stressed that strong political will to fight corruption is a must and institutions of accountability and rule of law must be allowed to function independently and effectively free from partisan influence. He also said that conducive environment must be created for people at large, particularly media, civil society, and NGOs to raise and strengthen the demand for accountability.

According to the findings of CPI 2017, New Zealand and Denmark rank highest with scores of 89 and 88 respectively. Syria, South Sudan and Somalia rank lowest with scores of 14, 12 and 9 respectively.
This year, the index found that more than two-thirds of countries score below 50, with an average score of 43. The best performing region is Western Europe with an average score of 66. The worst performing regions are Sub-Saharan Africa (average score 32) and Eastern Europe and Central Asia (average score 34).

As in previous years, Bhutan is the best performer in South Asia with a score of 67, ranked 26th from the top in the global list, followed by India ranked 81st with a score of 40. Sri Lanka scored 38 with 91st in the rank, followed by the Maldives that scored 33 with 112th position. Pakistan scored 32 securing 117th position while Nepal scored 31 with 122nd position. Afghanistan ranked 177th with score of 15.

Launched in 1995, CPI provides international comparison of countries by perceived prevalence of corruption understood in terms of abuse of entrusted power. It is a survey of surveys (13 in 2017) conducted by reputed international organisations. Information used in CPI relates to corruption in the public sector, particularly political and administrative; conflict of interest; unauthorised payment in the delivery of government functions, and in justice, executive, law enforcement and tax collection. The government’s capacity to control corruption is also considered.

CPI is produced by the research department of TI Secretariat in Berlin. CPI methodology has been designed by experts from Departments of Statistics and Political Science of Columbia University and Department of Political Science, Bocconi University, Italy. Scores are validated by Hertie School of Governance, German Institute for Economic Research (DIW), and Monterey Institute of Technology and Higher Education, Mexico.

No nationally generated data, including TI or TIB’s research or that of any other national chapter of TI is considered for the CPI. Unlike TI chapters of other countries, TI Bangladesh releases corruption perception index only.
According to CPI 2017, despite attempts to combat corruption around the world, the majority of countries are moving too slowly in their efforts. This year, the index found that more than two-thirds of countries score below 50.

Bangladesh was earlier placed at the bottom of the list for five successive years from 2001-2005. In 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010 Bangladesh was ranked at no 3, 7, 10, 13, and 12 respectively while in 2011 and 2012 we were 13th, 16th in 2013, 14th in 2014, 13th in 2015 and 15th in 2016.

TIB calls for independent commission to check the irregularities of private healthcare system

As the misery of the service recipients from private healthcare system across the country gotten to the marginal level due to collective impact of vast irregularities including widespread commercialization and commission-based marketing mechanism and prevalent lack of much-needed policy assistance, monitoring and control, TIB urged the government to form an independent commission to establish good governance. The call was made by TIB on February 7, 2018 at its Dhanmondi office while releasing a study report titled ‘Private healthcare: Challenges of good governance and the way forward’.

With an objective to identify the governance challenges and recommend how to tackle them, the study was conducted on 66 private hospitals and 50 diagnostic centres across the country between January and December of 2017.

The study found that the private healthcare sector, from where 63.3 percent of the households of the country take services, is in fact out of government’s control. Private healthcare seekers fall the victim of financial loss and serious health risk for substandard services created due to the lack of a proper monitoring from the concerned government institutions. Physicians, health assistants, family planning employees, rural doctors, pharmacy owners, midwives, receptionists, rickshaw-pullers, and middlemen are involved in the commission-based marketing mechanism. They receive from 15 to 50 percent commission from the diagnostic centres. For each Caesarian section patient, these beneficiaries get Tk 500 to Tk 5,000 as commission, the study says. It also says many service seekers, mainly those from outside Dhaka, are harassed by middlemen, who provided them with false information and forcibly take them to private hospitals and centres. Owners of private hospitals and diagnostic centres include police officials, physicians, their wives, nurses, public representatives, politicians, journalists, expatriates, businesspersons, corporate groups, and retired public service officials.

Advocate Sultana Kamal, Chair, Board of Trustees; Executive Director Dr. Iftekharuzzaman; and Professor Dr. Sumaiya Khair, Adviser- Executive Management; Mohammad Rafiqul Hassan, Director-Research and Policy (R&P) of TIB were present during the press conference. Findings of the research report were presented by Taslima Aktar and Mohammad Zulkarnain, Programme Manager and Deputy Programme Manager of R&P of TIB.

Citing private health-care system an important national sector, Dr. Iftekharuzzaman said, “The sector has been expanding as a profit-oriented trade despite its important contribution to private health-care system. The service recipients have been deceived by many irregularities caused by lack of proper control and monitoring. The failure of a much-needed policy formulation is a negative example which could not be adopted may be due to lack of political will, disagreements among stakeholders or illegal influence made by stakeholders of special class. The government alone can’t control the entire sector as it poses risks of ensuring transparency, accountability and objectivity. In parallel to experience of other countries, to develop a monitoring and evaluation system in this sector, an independent and free health-care commission shall be established to identify the ways to tackle prevailing challenges and create space enough to resolve them.”

According to the study, the service seekers are often forced to buy additional medicines. Later, the authorities of the facilities sold those medicines to other patients. Moreover, low-quality and date-expired reagents were used for conducting many tests there. Round-the-clock doctor services were not available at 52 of the 66 hospitals. Twenty-four-hour nurse services were not available at 53 hospitals while cleaners were not available at 29 hospitals all the time. Again, most of the surveyed facilities started their operation without even obtaining the mandatory registration. Of the 116 hospitals and diagnostic centres, 97 did not obtain any certificate from the Department of Environment, revealed the study.

The overall research findings suggest that the tendency of commercialization in private health care is evident in Bangladesh. This is characterized by too much profit oriented care activity, commission-based care and quantity over quality. The government is not paying much attention albeit the sector is very important – the fact is proven by less emphasis on the sector in policy and planning, not updating the relevant laws, not developing the regulatory structure, poor monitoring and supervision, and poor stakeholder coordination. For the aforementioned reasons, the sector has become uncontrollable on the one hand and has become a place for grabbing unlawful opportunities by some individuals, on the other. Poor efficiency and the tendency of irregularities are evident at all levels – especially, at the upazila and zila levels. On the whole, the general care receivers have become hostages to the system and are subjected to enormous financial and physical loss, access to quality health care is not ensured as well.

Based on the results of the study, the study concluded with different set of recommendations in three categories. At the law and policy category, the study stressed on review of the existing laws or adoption of new law if needed to smoothen the regulation and supervision of the private health care system. Besides, it also recommended to set registration and renewal fee according to the types of the institutions; making it mandatory to collect all relevant clearance certificates for registration; setting the costs of care according to the types of institutions; compulsory disclosure of necessary information and publicizing it; the extent of punishment should be increased timely and in a realistic way; and the Private health care institutions should be brought under the purview of the Right to Information Act (in terms of information receipt and disclosure).

For Regulatory bodies, TIB study came up with recommendations including, among others, developing Institutional capacity (both at central and field levels) to strengthen the regulatory and monitoring activities of the private institutions; assignment of relevant officials to inspect a specific number of institutions per month; employment of third party to scrutinize and verify the registration and renewal process at the Directorate General of Health Services (DGHS); introduction of Online licensing application and renewal processes; maintain records of all updated information related to the health care institutions and their care services (registration number of the institutions, renewal period, full time personnel and their registration numbers, infrastructure facilities) in the Directorate General of Health Services and these information should be open to all. Besides, the study also highlighted the importance of activate the committee established for proper medical‐waste management and ensure city corporation/municipality/unions must follow the right processes of medical‐waste management; setting a formal system of lodging complaints by the relevant authorities (DGHS, BMDC) for the health care receivers of the private institutions; expansion of the supervisory role of BMDC to identify and prevent the unethical publicity and activities, further in the country. In order to provide women‐friendly care, separate and usable toilets for men and women, breastfeeding corner, presence of female care givers should be ensured in all institutions.

YES members meet ‘Shadow Ambassador’ of the Danish Embassy

Selected YES members from TIB-inspired YES groups of Dhaka shared their experiences from the anti-corruption movement with the ‘Shadow Ambassador of the day 2018’ of the Danish Embassy to Dhaka. During the meet-up at TIB head office on 6 February 2018, YES members also engaged in discussion with Mr. Mikael Hemniti Winther, Ambassador of Denmark to Bangladesh. Followed by the introduction, YES members shared their activities regarding how YES members have been voluntarily contributing to the TIB-led anti-corruption movement. They also shared both the success and challenging sides of stories of their involvement in the movement. TIB airs concern over intervention on DSE’s strategic partner selection

TIB expressed concern over the unethical interference of the Bangladesh Securities and Exchange Commission (BSEC) in an attempt to influence the foreign strategic partner selection process of Dhaka Stock Exchange (DSE).

Citing press reports on the alleged interference of BSEC, TIB in a press statement released on 16 February, urged the regulatory body to refrain from any such attempt of influencing the process, and select the bidder organisation that came out on top in the strategic partner selection process.

TIB also called upon the authorities concerned to blacklist the organization which has been attempting to influence the selection process, and to ensure that BSEC officials involved with the illegal interference be held accountable for their actions.

In a statement, TIB Executive Director Dr Iftekharuzzaman said: “The aim of the foreign strategic partnership plan is to further develop the stock market through an organization that possesses modern equipment and necessary technical skills. The regulatory pressure and lobbying which favors any particular bidder of the process is unprecedented and against the law.”

He observed, “as per the law and custom, the DSE shares would be sold to the highest and experienced bidder. The commission should not act against the interests of the DSE, and must not collaborate or be influenced by another entity.”
Dr Zaman further said: “The initiative for stock exchange demutualization was recommended by the probe body, following the share market crash of 2010. Only a qualified and reputed foreign organization, that bid the highest, should be chosen as a strategic partner, and shares should be sold to the firm as per regulations.”

The statement said such 'interference and lobbying' for a bidder that quoted lower bidding price is not only unprecedented but also unlawful. It also read that it would be a clear violation of the law if the highest bidder is not chosen as the strategic partner, which would surely raise questions in both the foreign and the domestic sectors.

According to the TIB, the current debacle over selecting a strategic partner has also raised uncertainty and unrest among DSE investors and shareholders. The anti-graft organization called upon the government of Bangladesh to ensure that the DSE be run in accordance with existing rules and regulations. It also urged the authorities concerned to investigate whether a certain quarter was trying to repeat history by crashing the share market again through the illegal interference and market manipulation.

TIB urges to review the proposed Digital Security Act

Terming some of the provisions of the proposed Digital Security Act, 2017 risky to the people’s right to freedom of expression and security and contradictory with international convention, TIB urged the government to refine the mentioned provisions as soon as possible through necessary amendments considering opinion of relevant experts and stakeholders.

Observing that some provisions of the proposed act create a fear of people’s insecurity, Executive Director of TIB Dr. Iftekharuzzaman, in a statement released on February 1, 2018 said, “keeping vast option of misinterpretation and misuse of the definition of words such as defamation, trickery and spying mentioned in the proposed act creates concern that the act may seriously curb the people’s constitutional right to the freedom of expression rather than ensuring the national security.”

With grave concern, TIB perceived that various provisions involving punishment against espionage under the Article 3 of the Official Secrets Act, 1923 have been incorporated in the Article 32 of the proposed Digital Security Act, 2017 with different wrap. The proposed act which puts media, freedom of expression and social media at risk, any misapplication of the Article 32 of the proposed act will widely harm the people’s lawful right to information regarding corruption and human rights violations entitled by the Right to Information Act 2009, in turn, which will encourage the promotion of corruption and human rights violation, TIB expressed deep fear.

TIB also observed, once the proposed act is passed in the Parliament, the horizons of prospect regarding disclosure of opinion and information created after the expansion of internet especially social communication platforms will be ruined and democracy and basic rights will be harmed which will be suicidal to the democratic advancement of the country.
TIB calls on the cabinet division to backtrack from its discriminatory proposal regarding VIP lane

TIB called on the Cabinet Division of Bangladesh to backtrack from its proposal to the Road Transport and Highways Division for introducing separate lane in the roads of Dhaka for VIPs’ vehicle movement. In a statement released on February 6, 2018 TIB expressed deep concern over the proposal terming it unconstitutional and discriminatory.

In the statement, Executive Director of TIB Dr. Iftekharuzzaman said, “TIB is concerned over the proposal of the Cabinet Division for introducing separate lane in Dhaka for VIPs as well as law enforcers and emergency service providers. The proposal is discriminatory, tantamount to the severe misuse of power and a clear violation of the constitution of the country. The proposal is the violation of the great principles of equal rights of opportunity, justice and no demonstration of discrimination by the State towards any citizen irrespective of religion and caste which are enshrined in the Constitution of the country. TIB thinks that the move to give unconstitutional and unethical facility to VIPs, law enforcers or any other quarter by introducing separate lane is suicidal to the democratic practice.”

TIB also denounced and termed unacceptable the Cabinet Division’s explanation in favor of their proposal that the vehicles of VIPs frequently run on the right side of the lane breaking the traffic rules that is why they should be provided with separate lane to curb the traffic chaos created by the vehicles of the VIPs. TIB observed, the logic of the Cabinet Division to rationalize their proposal proves that many of the VIPs are regularly violating the existing traffic rules. TIB also called on the government to bring the traffic rules violators before the law.
